Hi, Jeff,

I believe we need an estimate from you for the honorary name street sign so I can move forward with the CIF.

Thank you!

The only advantage to an official name is that EMA can start assigning addresses off it, but that can also cause a problem if someone is forced to change their address because of a new name. For what you need, the honorary is likely the best option. The official name would be better if there were new lots or housing units coming in that would need to be identified by that new street name.

Thanks, Jeff! Very helpful information.

I think the best way for us to move forward would be an honorary street naming. Is there any reason that it would be advantageous to officially name the alley instead of doing it as an honorary alley?

This should be a link to one of the recent alley naming ordinances, for Branden Klayko Ally. This process officially assigns a name to an unnamed alley and the application you linked below looks like the one you would use. Officially naming the street goes through the Planning Commission which makes a recommendation to Metro Council, so I think you would need to start with the Planning & Design application and the ordinance will follow the Planning Commission action.

The other option is the honorary street naming. This process doesn't officially name the alley, but it does allow for the installation of the honorary street name sign. I've attached an example.

Jeff,

Could you please let me know what the process is for naming an alley? Do I need to fill out this form, or can I simply file a resolution? If it is the latter, can you send me a reference for a resolution that has been filed in the past for an alley naming/renaming?

Gary Allen, who was very involved with the Dainty Contest over the last few decades, passed away and we would like to recognize him by changing the alley name behind Hauck's Corner to Gary Allen

Alley. Since he was friends with George Hauck it would be wonderful to have Gary Allen Alley intersect with George Hauck Way.

I would like to make this announcement at the World Championship Dainty Contest on Monday, July 29, but I'm sure the paperwork and approvals won't be in line before then. Regardless, I would like to get started on the process to make it happen.

Thanks,

Jennifer Chappell
