

WILLIAM TEMPLE (BILL) BEAM, JR.

CAREER HISTORY

Beam is a Louisville, Kentucky native possessing decades of experience in the marketing, governmental/political real estate arenas. Along with his consistent tone for civility and compromise, he has a strong and a proven track record bringing a commitment to effective, loyal and visionary service. His initial career began in marketing as the youngest sales account executive ever employed by WAVE-3 TV (Louisville), while heading two trade organizations during that stint. A government career evolved, becoming the first and only official honored to serve eight years as the Kentucky Director of Boards and Commissions. Beam's resume is unique, serving state-elected governors from different political parties. Additionally, he worked in an appointed position as Executive Director, Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals. Along with his proven managerial skills, Beam is an experienced and proven administrative law judge as a adjudicative hearing officer.

Today, the combination of Mr. Beam's marketing and fundraising background, strong political skills, and governmental acumen should provide invaluable experience to an entity with a need for honest and strong leadership.
